2016 Sources of Funds

2016 Uses of Funds

Focus on What's Important

- A Finance Director related this information to his board:
- “Numbers by themselves don’t mean anything. It’s how they relate to other numbers — last year, year-to-date and budget — that’s what’s interesting.”
- One of the most important things a financial officer does is provide information for making good decisions. The current Board chair and former treasurer of the Board added, “Treasurers and Boards have the responsibility to consider the format of the financial information being delivered. They must be cognizant of the fact that this information is essential to make good governance decisions.” Which boils down to presentation: not too much information, but not too little, and make it clear.

External Relations – Sending the Right Message

- Organization is recognized for quality and effectiveness
- Organization has established and maintained relationships with local media, elected officials, community leaders, funders and others with whom it cooperates
- Organization looks to engage in strategic alliances which enhance the quality and quality of services provided by the organization, however, adhering to its mission

Indicators of Good External Relations

- Board members can relate and describe the organization's missions and key programs
- Organization created a communication strategy publicizing its message which attracts the support from community and its leaders
- Board embraces branding of the organization and consistently portrays the organization and services in a positive light
- Board has a plan to deal with crisis resolution with an identified team and spokesperson if and when the situation arises

Questions for the Board to Ask...

- Do board members engage with their personal and professional network supporting the organization's mission?
- How do Board members learn about operations, programs and structure?
- Our board members present at major local events?
- Has the board developed and approved a communication strategy?
- Has the Board developed and approved a crisis management response process?

Crime Stoppers official accused of embezzling money for Las Vegas fraternity trip

The Clarion-Ledger Published 3:30 p.m. CT June 29, 2017 | Updated 9:16 p.m. CT June 29, 2017

A Crime Stoppers official has been accused of embezzling money to take a round-trip service to Las Vegas to attend a national fraternity convention in Las Vegas.

Elijah Wilson, former coordinator of the North Central Mississippi Crime Stoppers, has been indicted on two counts of embezzlement by a Marshall County Grand Jury, according to state Auditor Stacey Pickering.

In addition to the Las Vegas trip, Wilson, 48, is accused of attending a Crime Stoppers conference in January of 2016, and received a travel advancement from the Town of Holly Springs, as well as reimbursement from NCMCS for the same trip.

"This case is egregious not just because of the embezzlement, but because a law enforcement official stole from the public he was sworn to serve," Pickering.

A formal demand totaling $15,673.28 was served to Wilson, which included the embezzled funds, interest and costs.

"The illegal use of Crime Stopper money could have very well impeded the arrest and prosecution of other criminals," Public Safety Commissioner Marshall Fisher said. "We gladly work with our law enforcement partners on the local, state and federal level to fully prosecute individuals who abuse public money."

In May 2017, Wilson retired after having been employed by Holly Springs Police Department since 2000 and serving as coordinator of North Central Mississippi Crime Stoppers since 2006.
